Employment Law Update

on Monday 13th April 2015 at Exeter Racecourse

2.00 pm - 5.15 pm / 3 hours CPD

This half-day session will cover all major developments in our employment law over the last 6-12 months, focusing in particular on those of greatest practical significance. The topics to be covered will include:

- A full explanation of, and practical guide to, the new Shared Parental Leave Regulations, including an analysis of potential sex discrimination issues arising from their application in the workplace.
- A detailed analysis of the latest case law on reasonable adjustments, with a consideration of the way in which this area of disability discrimination protection is being restricted, plus a consideration of key issues to be determined by the Court of Appeal later this year.
- A comprehensive discrimination law update, including the latest on obesity as a disability, associative discrimination, indirect age discrimination and redundancy during maternity leave.
- A general round-up of recent key developments, including the latest on whistle-blowing, the ability to use the defence of set-off in tribunals and the taxation of termination payments.
- A consideration of further legislative changes anticipated during 2015.

As usual, the comprehensive course materials will be available to delegates in electronic and hard-copy forms.

Debbie Grennan has practised exclusively in employment law since 2001, having a balance of Claimant and Respondent work which covers all aspects of employment and employment-related issues, as well as trade union law. Having practised in Exeter for 11 years, Debbie moved to Chambers in Bristol in 2009. In January 2012, she joined Guildhall Chambers as a key part of its new employment team.

Julian Allsop has a specialist employment practice which covers all aspects of the Employment Tribunal jurisdiction and related claims in the High Court and County Court. Julian has a particular expertise in employment cases that bridge the interface between employment law and commercial litigation as a result of his considerable experience and skill in commercial and construction matters where he is separately listed in the Legal 500 as having particular proficiency. Julian is a trained mediator and is listed in the Bar Council's list of Barrister Mediators.
