Nicholas Evans and Michael Selway will be talking about possession claims in residential landlord and tenant cases – a familiar area, but one in which there are a number of interesting points and recent developments to consider.

In particular, Nicholas will be speaking about some potentially difficult issues that may arise in such claims, including the requirements imposed by the Deregulation Act 2015 and how any non-compliance might be remedied.

Michael will then be focussing on a couple of issues which can add further complication: the involvement of receivers appointed under mortgages of the properties in question and the impact of the Housing (Wales) Act 2014.
